AERIAL TORPEDOES MAY BE FIRED AFTER JULY 29

Ban Placed by The Hague Conference Will Be Raised After

that Date. CHANCE FOR MONITORS

WASHINGTON, May 27 .- The attention of the military and naval experts here who have been closely following the developments of the war, has been attracted to the fact that on July 29 the prohibition imposed by The Hague conference upon the discharge of aerial torpedoes from balloons or flying machines will expire by limitation. It was with the greatest difficulty that the powers represented at The Hague conference, through their military delegates, managed to reach an agreement on rules governing war, and this particular section was bitterly fought over, although it is one of the few which the United States government accepted without reservation. So to make easier the reaching of an agreement as to the use of aerial warships, it was a period of five years, and that period of time expires in July. Consequently, a new field is now open to the inventor of flying maghines and dirigible balloons, which soon may enter the field of warfare without violation of the rules of war.

REDDISH BROWN ANT THAT KILLS THE BOLL WEEVIL!

Arch-Enemy of Insect That Threatens to Destroy the Cotton-Growing Industry.

INTRODUCED

WASHINGTON, May 27.-The Department of Agriculture to-day announced that an ant has been found in Guatemala that is an effective enemy of the boll weevil. It will be immediately introduced into the cotton States. The greatest significance is attached to the discovery, which was made by O. F. Cook, the botanist in charge of tropical agricultural investigations of the bureau of plant industry. Cabled instructions have been sent to him to report immediately to the department what assistance he needs in the way of men and year Mr. Cook discovered a cotton grown by Indians which gave evidence of being immune from the attacks of the boll weevil and on orders from the department he later began an investigation in certain points in Guatemala and Mexico. Mr Cook's investigations have been in more or less accessible regions in the province of Alta Vera Paz, Guatemala. The weevils are present there, but the investigations show that they are unquestionably kept in check by the presence of an active enemy in the shape of a large reddish brown ant which is attracted to the cotton by the food which it secures from sets of loral nectaries. Mr. Cook's investigations show that these ants spread themselves over fields of cotton four or five to a plant and that they are constantly engaged in the destruction of the boll weevils. Mr. Cook reports that the adroit and businesslike way in which the weevil is disposed of seem to prove beyond question that the ant is by structure and by instinct, especially equipped for the work of destruction and is, in short, the true explanation of the fact that cotton is successfully cultivated by the Indians of Alta Vera Paz in spite of the presence of the boll weevil.

Cabrera.

CAPE HAITIEN, Haiti, May 27.-After being informed of the defeat of the Dominican government troops yesterday at Esperanza, the revolutionary generals Noney Cepin and Mauricio Jiminez left Monte Christi, the headquarters of the revolutionists and marched on Dajabon, defeated Gen. Epifanio Rodriguez, the gov-ernment commander, and captured the ammunition and supplies of the government forces. It is learned from an official source that General Guayubin has been appointed Dominican minister of war, in succession to Gen. Raoul Cabrera, who commanded the government troops at Esperanza yesterday and who died soon after the battle from a wound received during the engagement. General Guayubin will leave Santiago de los Cabelleros shortly at the head of 300 fresh troops.

"TREASURED MEMORIES."

Not all of the garlands of war are of laurel and palm; there are others of withered and bitter leaves which do not crown the victors or repose on the graves of those who have given their lives for their country. They are worn by the women who have inherited the legacy of sorrow and loneliness through the death of a son, a father or a brother in war. They cling in their bereavement to anything which may keep fresh the memory of these dear ones.
